eDOC to Provide Free eDOCSignature Use Until 09/30/20

MIDDLEBURY, VT – March 16, 2020

As concern about the COVID-19 outbreak continues to grow, eDOC Innovations, a Credit Union Service Organization (CUSO), is hoping to help credit unions facilitate their transactions by providing free use of its e-sign solution eDOCSignature®. Beginning today until September 30, 2020, the CUSO is offering a subscription to its basic level eDOCSignature package free of charge for all credit unions not currently utilizing the platform.

“Daily habits have rapidly and dramatically shifted in response to COVID-19,” explained Mark Fierro, CEO of eDOC Innovations. “Businesses of all sizes are asking employees to engage in remote work. Schools are transitioning to online classrooms. As Americans continue to take precautions and avoid unnecessary travel and personal contact in the coming months, foot traffic at businesses across the country is sure to take a large hit. This doesn’t mean that all transactions will suddenly grind to a halt, however. Credit Unions and their members will still need carry out transactions in a quick, efficient, and secure manner. As a CUSO with an e-sign solution, eDOC wants to help these credit unions safely facilitate transactions from any remote location where members can access their email.”

“This is a no-strings-attached offer for eDOCSignature with a limited feature set. We know that eDOCSignature can help credit unions, and our owners and board of directors agreed that it was simply the right thing to do,” Fierro continued. “Your credit union can use eDOCSignature free of charge until September 30, 2020. Our team will expedite the installations on a first-come, first-serve basis and daily webinar training will be offered. On October 1, 2020, we will automatically turn off access. If you want to continue using the solution, our team will work with you to switch to a paid subscription.”

eDOCSignature provides state-of-the-art automation that empowers credit unions and drives value back to members by meeting those members wherever they are.
